Questions and Answers

Q. Who uses Crow Wing Kayaks?

Q. Are they stable and easy to get and out of?

A. Yes the stability of these kayaks will blow your mind. First timers to kayaking will have no problem feeling safe in them.

Q. Are the kayaks durable?

Crow Wing Kayaks are extremely durable. The rotationally molded polyethylene is roughly +/- 1/4 inch allowing for added durability and wear resistance. Our kayaks are also produced with a UV additive to help protect them from the sunlight.

Q. Can I fish or hunt out of these kayaks?

Absolutely! They are awesome stealthy boats, can often sneak up on fish in the waters. Duck hunters often use them to get into marshy backwaters and they have lots of storage for your gear and mans best friend.

Q. What colors are available?

The standard colors are: hunter green, olive, blue, yellow, red, and groolive (CWK exclusive).

Q. Where are these kayaks made?

The hulls (basic boat without accessories) are rotomolded in Brainerd MN and custom outfitted in Crosslake, Minnesota. We believe in USA products and hope you do as well.

Q. Will this kayak track straight?

No kayak will ever paddle truly straight. Our kayaks are easy to paddle and maintain course very well because of the slightly curved bottom, and extended 3.5" keel which allows the kayaks to track very straight and move efficiently through the water. They are so nimble and stable you can rotate 360 degrees in the same spot.

Q. Will my gear get wet in the kayaks?

Our kayaks are a one-piece molded watercraft which gives great rigidity and waterproofness in the hull. The hatches on the kayaks are sealed for maximum waterproofness but we do not guarantee they will be 100% waterproof as water can leak through the hatch covers. Best insurance for your gear put things in dry boxes and dry bags to give more protection.

Q. What are your kayaks made of?

Rotomolded polyethylene, at 1/4 inch thick they are thicker than many plastic kayaks on the market which are 1/16 inch.
